

MORSE

It's a circus and dance performance with three artists, it's possible to perform inside or outside. Suitable for all audiences, but especially for teenager and young people.

“We don’t assert to be clear with the thing that we want hand over, we want to “propose” and that the spectator gives the answer to that one. That’s why we don’t have text and that we use a language more universal like circus and dance disciplines to deliver ideas that they can be the subject of talks.”

“With three artists, who each play a distinct role, the authoritarian who feel superior of the others, the naive person with her youth and her ingenuousness and the diplomatic person with her fears of break norms, we make a tour in which we observe that the differences of the role use to create differences, distances and disputes, but we discover that this differences can be complementary to achieve your aim, your challenge and your dream too.”
